

parabolized it yet (I am critiq in a lot of talks!) - He has kindly offered to lend it to me for the opposition of ♂. Mr. Berthon has by this time the specimen I chose for him (with much ado - for two were so wrong like that had they been changed in my absence I could not I think have told the one for the other).

Mr. Webb particularly begs her kind regards - & with our united best wishes

I am always

My dear Sir,

Yours affectionately

J. W. Webb.

We both wish you could come here soon and pay us a visit.
