My dearest Arthur,

Mr. Penry (on whom I had occasion to call at The Moon this morning) showed me a book belonging to some one who wants to sell, & wishes to know its value. I know nothing of it. But it strikes me, that some day when you have 5 min: to spare, you w^d. kindly, as it appears rather to be a case of charity, ask your very fair dealing Auctioneer if he knows any thing about it, & what might be the worth of it to a sale. -

It is a small 4to bound in vellum & gilt, a very nice copy with many plates & apparently perfect - the title

Monumenta Paderbornensia - printed at Amsterdam, 1672.

It seemed I thought to be ~~an account~~ that we should call Memoirs of Paderborn
